shaping space

To see myself reflected in my bathroom,
I don't have to look into a mirror.

Every basin in the Alape line is pressed individually from a seamless sheet of steel before being fired with a rich glass enamel glazing known as Ceramostahl. This advanced composite material delivers a deep, perfectly balanced finish. The final result is a truly superior product crafted to the highest level of German engineering precision. Durable and beautiful, Alape creates designs that will stand the test of time and be admired for many years to come.

Silver, the precious metal, is added to the glaze and embedded in the surface of all white basins during the firing process. ProShield is a surface that rids itself of bacteria and fungi over time, offering lasting protection with no harmful effects on the body or environment.

Glazed Steel.

For more than 125 years, Alape has viewed glazed steel not only as a material, but also as its strongest source of inspiration. The material's characteristics have become a compass for our design, allowing products to take shape that fulfil the basic human needs for cleanliness and aesthetics in equal measure.

Alape is constantly striving to achieve complete unison of material, shape and function. After all, harmony is required between these aspects to live up to our customers' high and varying requirements.

MADE IN GERMANY

Make a statement with Alape's Metallic Dark Iron; exploring new design possibilities with pressed enamel.

Metallic Dark Iron is Alape's newly developed enamel. This unique surface embodies a metallic sheen, infused directly into the enamel itself, which shimmers in different shades, depending on geometry and perspective. An elegant alternative to classic white, this highly reflective surface adapts to surrounding materials to suit any environment.

Alape's Bicolour range delivers the ultimate contrast. The design boldly pairs matte black with gloss white for a flawless finish.

The bathroom plays a very important role in our own ability to recover and recharge; with the right material, with the right functionality, with the right joy of water.

Christian Sieger
Sieger Design

With Bicolor, Alape sets a new bathroom trend in contrast. With impeccable precision, the 3mm basins transition effortlessly from matte black to sleek white – a delicate transposition of style and class. Designed for purpose, the matte material provides a textural element, while the inner white enamel acts as a smooth, easy to clean surface for everyday use.

SCOPIO

With Scpio, Alape succeeded in reinterpreting and redefining the appearance of a classic washbasin. The tapered design of this range, which was designed by Sieger Design, perfectly embodies the architectural clarity of Alape’s portfolio while reflecting the archetype of the washplace – the classic enamel dish.

SONDO

With SONDO, Alape presents a new series of basins that transform the everyday ritual of washing into a sensual experience. Made of 3mm glassed steel, SONDO combines functionality, quality and purist design into aesthetic form.

The range which was developed in cooperation with Gerhard Busalt, is a fusion of the classic bowl shape with the modern, purist form of the cylinder. Its proportions give the impression of a counter basin that almost levitates above the benchtop. Despite the reduced dimensions, this basin does not compromise on functionality. The deep form and generous diameter of the basin make for comfortable handling and use.
