Robert Gordon and Reece are proud to collaborate on a basin collection, two iconic Australian brands coming together to celebrate craftsmanship, materiality and enduring design.

Designed and made in Melbourne, this collection reflects a shared commitment to quality, longevity, and thoughtful Australian manufacturing. Drawing on age-old ceramic traditions, taking raw materials from the earth and shaping it into something both functional and beautiful, these basins celebrate pottery in its most honest form.

The Potters Basin Collection

Available in two sculptural styles, Above Counter and Semi- Inset, each basin features subtle thrower's rings that encase the outer profile, a quiet nod to the making process and the hands behind it. The result is a timeless form that feels both contemporary and deeply grounded.

Alongside this collaboration, Robert Gordon offers a broader basin range featuring five core shapes and eight bespoke glazes, all designed and made locally. This wider collection allows for flexibility across residential and commercial projects, while maintaining the same commitment to quality material integrity and timeless design.

Our Approach

Every Robert Gordon basin is hand-crafted in our Melbourne workshop, using high-quality stoneware refined through years of research and development.

Our glazes are mixed in-house, our forms shaped with care and our process grounded in craftsmanship that values both precision and individuality.

This local approach allows us to create ceramics that are not only beautiful, but built to last.

Each glaze enhances the natural character of the clay, ensuring no two basins are ever exactly the same.
