SINKS MADE SIMPLE

Step 1 How many bowls do you need?

One Bowl

If space is at a premium or you'd just like to maximise your bench space, one bowl could be the ideal option.

Two Bowls

Suited to family homes with plenty of dishes and food prep, you can't beat a double sink.

1 3/4 Bowls

Big on practicality with similar functionality to a double bowl sink but with a smaller footprint.

Step 2 Need a drainer or taphole?

Drainer

A drainer is handy for stacking wet dishes to dry after washing.

Taphole

If you want your mixer mounted in your sink, you'll need a taphole built in. Alternatively, choose one without a taphole if you want to mount your mixer into your benchtop or on the wall.

Step 3 Are you a lefty or a righty?

Think about your sink layout in relation to other appliances in your kitchen as well as your washing and drying process. Wash on the left and dry on the right, or the other way around?

Step 4 Undermount or inset?

Undermount

Inset

Most sinks are either designed to be undermount or inset into the benchtop. Memo sinks, on the other hand, can be installed either way for added versatility. This makes choosing the right one a little easier.

Step 5 What's the best fit?

Dimensions

You want a sink, that is not only proportional to your kitchen but also caters to all the items you need to wash, such as oven trays and large pots and pans.

Cabinet Size

It might go without saying but make sure the width of your sink bowls are within the internal dimensions of your cabinet underneath.

Think Deep

Deeper sinks allow you to wash larger dishes but will take up more internal cabinet space underneath. Decide which is more important to you.

Zenna

THE ATTRACTION OF COLOUR

Nature lures animals with colour, which is why bees are drawn to beautiful flowers. We do the same with our incredible metallic colours. What better way to make a sink desirable than brilliant brass? And if brass ain't your thing, Zenna also comes in striking stainless steel, smoking hot gunmetal, elegant nickel and beautiful bronze.

Bananas are berries
but strawberries aren't.

DEEPER THINKING

Designed to handle
the largest pots and dishes with ease.

EVERYONE LOVES THE CLASSICS

When you want to make something great, it helps to start with the right ingredients. Harper is born from this idea. We've taken classic design and mixed it with quality materials. We added a pinch of modern ingenuity and the result is wonderfully spectacular.

Harper Fireclay Sinks

Harper sinks are manufactured with high quality materials and tested to ensure performance and long life. Fireclay sinks are created by firing the clay at high temperatures so some visual distortion can occur. This is not a defect but can be seen to add to the natural beauty of the sink.

Cleaning

To keep your Harper sink in original condition, only clean with non-abrasive cleaners and a soft sponge.

Water Stains

Use a low concentration of vinegar to remove hard water stains. Rinse well after. Keeping the sink dry will avoid future water stains.

General Stains

Marks and stains caused by foods and liquids should be removed immediately with hot water and a gentle cleaning agent. Cleaners, such as Jif, can be used to remove tougher stains. For more stubborn stains, mix a water and detergent mixture in the sink overnight, scrub off any dirt and stains and rinse with water.

Note

Damage caused by improper treatment is not covered by the product warranty. Refer to warranty conditions for further information.

Light Marks

Metal cutlery and cooking utensils can leave marks on the surface. These can be removed by Bar Keeper's Friend or a similar cleaner.

Scratches

Fireclay is extremely durable and long lasting. However, if scratches and chips do occur, Cramer Repair Kit is recommended for minor damages to the sink.

Do Not Use

Fireclay sinks can withstand many chemical cleaning agents, however it can cause damage to the wastes and taps. Below is not advised.

- Steel wool, scourers or metal brush to sink.
- Harsh cleaners containing severe acidic or alkaline chemicals such as sodium hydroxide, sulphuric acid or hydrochloric acid.
- Toilet cleaners such as chlorinated cleansers or bleach of any type.

Zenna Stainless Steel Nanoplated Sinks

Zenna sinks are manufactured with high quality materials and tested to ensure performance and long life. Marks on Zenna Stainless Steel Nanoplated Sinks can occur over time from waterborne deposits clinging to the surface. To maintain the appearance of the finish, it's important to do a regular clean with non-abrasive cleaners.

Maintenance

Always keep the surface clean and do not allow dirt or grime to remain on the surface for extended periods.

Brown Stains & Light Scratches

A 3M Scotch-Brite cleaning cloth can be used by carefully rubbing up and down following the steel grain direction – not across the grain or in a circular motion. Diluted dishwashing liquid on a 3M Scotch-brite can also be used to remove stubborn brown stains. Thoroughly rinse with clean water and let dry to ensure no potential rust particles are left on the surface.

Recommended Cleaner & Repellent

We recommend Hillmark 'Steelkleen' to remove fingerprint smears, water spots, splatters and light brown staining. In addition, it will not affect the transparent film which repels new marks. It's available through Reece (Reece code 2029784).

Note

Damage caused by improper treatment is not covered by the product warranty. Refer to warranty conditions for further information. Open chemical containers can emit fumes that can have adverse effects to the stainless steel sink when kept underneath the sink.

Do Not Use

Do not use any of the following cleaners;

- Steel wool, scourers or a metal brush
- Scourers previously used on normal steel
- Harsh cleaners containing acidic or alkaline chemicals such as sodium hydroxide (drain cleaner) or hydrochloric acid.
- Toilet cleaners such as chlorinated cleaners or bleach of any time.
- Brick cleaners such as hydrochloric acid.
- Plastic scourers across the stainless steel grain.
- Use of laundry detergents, such as Vanish, are not recommended.

Do Not Allow

Salt, salty food or citric fruit juices to dry on the stainless steel surface. Always rinse off with clean water.

Memo Zenna PVD sinks are not recommended to be installed in laundries, due to potential exposure to bleaches and harsh chemicals.
