Oria

Local design with a
European mindset.

FUSING
OLD & NEW

ROBUST
AND DURABLE

If you have a passion for creating uniquely beautiful interior environments, you would often be contemplating European design. But the story of Oria starts in Australia, and is a proud example of our rich design capability that stands out on a global stage.

Oria is a bathroom showpiece. The peak of architectural influence, it encapsulates the beauty and meticulous engineering of the metalwork seen in city structures around Europe. From brass archways that decorate ceilings, to silver spires that pierce the sky, the methodical approach taken to fuse old and new is captured in its striking silhouette.

Understated
bathroom beauty.
Oria.

A need to preserve our own heritage is encapsulated in Oria's very materials: a classic tap design at its heart, full of all the modern influence of today.

Cleverly crafted in Melbourne, Oria is focused on the user. Ergonomic and clean cut, its sturdiness is elevated by its unrivalled construction, structure and integrity.

A stronger finish

Milli Oria's PVD finishes are produced in Melbourne, delivering sophisticated and durable coloured surfaces. With complete control over the process, Oria's PVD ensures perfect colour and tone, every time.

Creating a hardened surface that is resistant to scratching, tarnishing, abrasion and discolouration, Oria PVD sets the benchmark in coloured finishes.

AVAILABLE IN
6 x COLOURS

About PVD

Physical Vapour Disposition (PVD) is the process where coloured metals are vaporized at high temperatures in a vacuum sealed chamber, fusing with the tap itself. This technique is a contamination free finishing process that is sustainable, environmentally friendly and luxurious to touch.

Pure

Beautifully raw in form.

When we search for lasting design and style trends, it's often the 'where' that becomes the focus of our attention. However, for the Australian made Pure range of tapware, its rich narrative is underpinned by how it has been crafted, and what has gone into its construction.

Stripped back to its raw form, Pure is a study of the minimalist mindset — inside and out.

Made clear by its striking circular-dial construction, it's embedded with a sense of the infinite; of simplicity and regeneration; of a full-circle approach to creating a beautiful space.

Premium recycled materials, such as brass, are sourced locally. Forged together in cutting edge fashion, a no-waste, handcrafted approach is taken to imagining a tapware range that is unique within bathroom design, eco-friendly and tactile.

Simplicity is a concept that summarises each aspect of the Pure range. Made in Melbourne, its construction fuses innovation in manufacturing and a progressive mindset, with sustainability and ingenuity steering its understated, minimalist finish.

Infinitely Australian. Pure.

Pure customisation

Voir

Inspired by the Eiffel Tower.

One Milli range that takes us further around the globe than any other is Voir. Infused in its French provincial roots is a passion for preservation, heritage, and ornate design. But, like any enduring trend, its application is not limited to the traditional.

Our homes are among the best examples of upholding period architecture and design, yet not compromising on the freshness of modernity. With its range of contemporary finishes, Voir curates the best of classical and modern thinking to flex between time.

Subtle design motifs sampled from the Eiffel Tower allow lovers of the old world to elevate their new or renovated abodes. Lever and cross handles, paired with arched spouts are key to the range's appeal.

Look to the past to live up the present. Voir.

Exo

An intersection of tradition and fashion.

OLD X NEW

X is a symbolic letter in the alphabet that carries different meanings across the world. Here, we have given it a new story, one that defines our market's way of seamlessly blending the old and the new to create fresh modern spaces with a narrative of the past.

Building on the past with a passion for nostalgia is where Exo's elegant look comes into play. The cross shaped handles are a classic tapware feature, never to be dismissed when designing even the most modern home.

There is a sentimental nature in Exo that pulls on old and new trends to create unique fusions. The three piece Exo range, with sleek, elongated forms, elevates bygone eras to new, modern heights.

Cross time, cross movements. Exo.

Axon

Shifting the dial on bathroom design.

An intriguing anomaly in tapware, Axon is reminiscent of new and old technologies. Strikingly elegant, it plays off geometric shapes such as the radio dial inspired progressive handle and artistic blade spout.

Simplicity and effectiveness are key principles that helped bring Axon to life, reminiscent of the Bauhaus movement. Removing the need to ornament, Axon's design is a curated blend of the beautifully simple yet futuristic, an array of compositions that cite the digitised world we live in.

Aligning to this, Axon is an introduction to the sharpness of the monochrome palette. Its acute lines, in matte black and chrome silver, are inspired by the digital age of industrial design. Sleek, streamlined and elegant, it calls on you to style with deliberate pops of colour and personality.

Axon is for the forward thinkers. It makes no apologies for being different; for bringing together components and details usually unpaired, but powerful when fused. For shifting the dial, for moving forward, Axon hits the mark.

Future focused. Axon.
